them some of the first of black bottoms.

The fight at Omdurman, September 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartum, was the greatest battle of Kitchener's time in Egypt. Osman Digna faced him with 20,000 Mahdists, while he had but 20,000 men. When the battle was over, 15,000 of the Mahdists had been killed, capturing 16,000 wounded, and 1,000 taken prisoners, while the English and Egyptian loss altogether was under 500 men.

For his triumphs in the Sudan he was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchener of Khartum and received the thanks of parliament and a grant of £150,000. Shortly afterward he was promoted lieutenant-general and then chief of staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts' return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as commander-in-chief in that field. By constructing a 3,500 mile chain of block houses he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home and he was rewarded by the title of viscount, promotion to the rank of general for distinguished services, the thanks of the parliament and a grant of £50,000.

Without his crowning achievements as the great organizer of the British campaign in the European war, Kitchener had already won wide and lasting fame by his many campaigns in Egypt, South Africa and in India. He was born June 24, 1850, in County Kerry, Ireland, a fact that gave rise to a general belief that he was of Irish blood, but his parents were of French and English descent. His father was a soldier, but of no very high rank. He had managed to climb ability to obtain vocational training and the system of increasing pay. The induction period is seven years, but 25 years' service now entitles a man to enter the reserves. Furthermore, when not yet 21 years of age he is required to serve four years before becoming a reservist.

One Year May Suffice.

After a year's service a man can take examinations for a commission.

If his commander certifies he is properly trained he can enter the reserves at that time. It may even be before his 21st year if he is appointed to the reserves in those three years initial period.

Commissioning in agriculture, mechanics and the ordinary crafts is now easier to get than ever before.

Apt. number between the ages of 18 and 22 can be appointed to West Point if he passes the examinations.

Postmasters to Profit.

Another provision which has not been definitely worked out, enables postmasters to a sum of $100 for every year they send in a recruiting station who is accepted. There are a good many exceptions in Oklahoma post offices, among them Postmaster of Smith at year end, but they have helped us a great deal in this matter. I am glad they are to get this bonus as it will further encourage their efforts to do respect.

According to Major Barney the changes recommended will now affect recruiting with no change.

The standard cannot be lowered, he said, most of those passed fail to pass the examination because of a disparity between height and weight, under size and a condition of the pedal arteries known as "flat foot."

It is proposed that Guthrie will again be made a recruiting station, under the new law.
